

Californians Carry Off Intercollegiate Championship for First Time in History

Pacific Coast Squad of Ten Beats Harvard by Half Point

Hutchinson Places in Last Event of Day and Westerners Nose Out Crimson; Thomson, of Dartmouth, Only Double Winner in Harvard Stadium

By Jack Masters
BOSTON, May 28.—The University of California, with a team composed of a mere handful of athletes, won the intercollegiate track and field championship of America in the Harvard Stadium this afternoon, defeating Harvard by half a point. The score was 27½ to 27. Dartmouth was third, nosing out Pennsylvania, the defending champions, by one and one-half points.

Not in the history of the games has the annual struggle for the team honors been so close, the nearest to this afternoon's magnificent battle having been staged eighteen years ago when Yale defeated Harvard 41½ to 41.

It was the fifth time since 1913 that the little band of Californians have invaded the East to combat for the massive trophy emblematic of the championship, and despite the fact that the crowd of 15,000 had a distinct crimson hue the native sons were given a grand ovation when it was announced that they had at last triumphed over the best the East could send into the fray. It was the first time in athletic history that the title has gone to a Western institution.

The first break in the contest for point honors came near the close of the meet when word was telephoned to the spectators that Ned Gourdain and George Krogness, of Harvard, had finished first and second, respectively, in the broad jump. This put the Crimson into the lead over Penn and California.

A mighty roar went up from the crowd and the din of drums, horns and college yells lasted fully three minutes. Penn, the hated rivals of the Crimson, had been disposed of, and the boys who came out of the West without heralding and who were fighting valiantly were overlooked by many. The issue was definitely decided in the last race of the day. It was the 220-yard dash, and if Hutchinson, of California, could place the Westerners would win. Hutchinson had already scored in the 100-yard run, and he was a tired boy when he faced the starter with Woodring, Leconey and others.

Hendrixson Keeps Title
Favored by the pole position the slender visitor raced down the straightaway, crossed the line in third place and California had won. Woodring was first with Leconey second. The time was 21.25 seconds, one-fifth of a second slower than the record for the distance.

One individual title went with California's triumph. Hendrixson successfully defended his laurels in the quarter-mile run. Hutchinson, in addition to finishing third in the quarter-mile, fourth in the hundred; Spratt got second in the half mile; C. M. Dorris carried off the third in the two-mile run. P. Muller finished first in the 120-yard broad jump and tied with Dick Landrum, of Yale, for the title in the high jump, and A. G. Norris tied with R. W. Harwood, Harvard, and J. B. Brown, Yale, for first honors in the pole vault.

Earl Thomson, of Dartmouth, an Olympic champion and record holder, was the only double winner of the day. Earl defeated the field in the 100-yard high hurdles and added the 220-yard low hurdles honor to his long list.

The closest individual victory of the day came in the sixteen-pounder put, which was won by J. A. Shelburne, of Dartmouth, with a heave of 45 feet 3½ inches. This was one-eighth of an inch better than the toss of C. Halsey, of Princeton, who finished second with 45 feet 3½ inches.

Fast Mile by Connolly
Jim Connolly, the veteran Georgetown star, made his first appearance on the field this afternoon and covered his mile with a record of 4:17.1-5, the fastest time recorded anywhere this year for that distance.

Welsh, of Georgetown, who ostensibly is there to make the race for Connolly, led the field to the half-mile, where Jim took command, closely followed by Irish. The Cornell man went to the front for a few seconds, but the next turn and Connolly was on the run, opening a ten-yard lead at the goal line.

The Georgetown star ran into the three-quarters, where the expert of Larry Brown, of Pennsylvania, and added ten yards on the short journey to the tape. O'Connell, of Harvard, who had been in the lead, was the victim of the collapse of Tom Campbell, of Yale, who, who was carried unconscious on a stretcher to the hospital tent.

Campbell, thoroughly exhausted at the three-quarters, was the expert of Larry Brown, of Pennsylvania, and added ten yards on the short journey to the tape. O'Connell, of Harvard, who had been in the lead, was the victim of the collapse of Tom Campbell, of Yale, who, who was carried unconscious on a stretcher to the hospital tent.

Kirksey Captures "Century"
Morris Kirksey, of Leland Stanford, gave the dope a severe jolt in the 100-yard dash, but he took the measure of Le Coney, of Lafayette; Woodring, of Syracuse; Hutchinson, of California, and Lever, of Penn, who finished in the last three-quarters. The expert was thought by many to be Woodring's by a wide margin, and possibly he would have won but for a break in the luck which favored the Pacific Coast star.

Kirksey actually led the race—that is, he guessed the flash and was off like a scared deer a foot in front of the field. Woodring was sluggish for the first fifty yards, but he straightened out his stride the Olympic champion showed a fine dash of speed, being only an inch behind Le Coney at the tape.

Cornell gathered a nice portion of the spoils in the two-mile run, which resulted in one of the most sensational finishes of the day, when R. E. Brown, Cornell, snatched victory from "Blondie" Romig, of Penn State, in the home stretch. Romig, the cross-country champion, made the race from the measure mark and rounded the last turn with twenty yards to spare over R. E. Brown.

The race appeared to be cinch for Romig when Brown did the unexpected. The Cornell boy cut loose a sprint which closed the big gap and carried him to the line four yards in front of Romig. M. P. Brown, Cornell, fourth, the time was 9:32. Simmons, of Harvard, former cross-country titleholder, and Andy Stewart, of Columbia, also ran.

EARL THOMSON, DARTMOUTH

Columbia Hurlers Hit for Dozen Runs By Dartmouth Nine

Three Blue and White Mound Men Fall in Onslaught of Green Sluggers
Dartmouth won a batting feast yesterday afternoon, coming out on the long end of a 12 to 4 score. Five pitchers went to the showers during the melee. The Hanoverians started their onslaught early, scoring a run in the first and three more in the second. A home run, a double, three singles, an error and the winging of Kopf by Wunderlich pushed the Green's total up to nine in the fifth inning. They added insult to injury by putting a runner across in the eighth and two more in the ninth. Columbia showed signs of life all through the contest but were able to score only in the fifth and sixth frames.

Blakes, who started for the Dartmouth team, was effective for four innings, but weakened in the fifth and went to pieces in the sixth. Only ex-Columbia hurler, who had pitched for the team in 1919, held on for a score. In the fifth he hit Anderson, pinch-hitting for Wunderlich, and walked three of the next four men to face him, forcing the victim of one of his slants in with the first Columbia run. In the sixth frame he yielded a double, two singles and two bases on balls, and was finally sent to the showers. Ross replaced him and two men scored while he pitched.

C. C. N. Y. Captures Loose Game From St. Stephen's
Ragged playing by both teams marked the baseball victory of C. C. N. Y. over St. Stephen's College yesterday in the Lewisham Stadium. The score was 13 to 8. The Lavender players got fifteen hits for a total of twenty-one runs, and stole thirteen bases. Packer's team, which featured the game. The score:

Annapolis Eight Easily Takes Feature Race of Henley Regatta

Union Boat Club, of Boston, Finishes Ahead of Penn Oarsmen in Steward's Cup Event; Princeton Captures Junior Classic and Navy Plebes Score

By Jack Lawrence
PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Dick Glendon's magnificent Annapolis eight proved again to-day that it must be regarded as one of the very best crews in the country when it swept to an impressive victory over the formidable Union Boat Club octet, of Boston, and the Pennsylvania varsity, Pennsylvania varsity.

The three crews met in the Stewards' Challenge Cup, the feature of the seventeenth annual Henley regatta held this afternoon over the historic Schuylkill River course.

The stalwarts of the Severn showed a very decided improvement over the form they displayed on Lake Carnegie a few weeks ago, when Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth's Princeton Varsity noted them out in a grueling struggle. To-day's showing of the Annapolis oarsmen would indicate that they will enter the Poughkeepsie championship as favorites for first money.

More than fifteen thousand rowing fans lined the banks of the Schuylkill to witness an aquatic carnival that was the most successful staged here in many years. The town swarmed with naval officers and gobs, who were on hand with their wives and sweethearts for the purpose of cheering the Academy to victory in the main event and in the junior varsity eight-oared race for the New England Challenge Cup.

Princeton Juniors Win
This struggle brought together the second-string crews of Annapolis, Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania and Princeton. The Navy crew, stroked by Wauseloff, made a gallant bid for first place, but found the Tigers too strong for them.

The midshipmen finished a battling second about one length and a half ahead of Pennsylvania, who pulled a local nine, but were unable to budge them. The visitors were not without rosters, as there was a large body of their alumni on hand as well as Japanese residents of the city.

N. Y. U. drew first blood in the fourth. Sawyer led off by drawing a pass. Flynn's double sent the catcher to third. The Waseda backdrop threw to second to get Flynn, who had a big lead. Sawyer started home and was trapped, but finally slid in safely under the catcher.

Weinheimer walked and Flynn went on in a passed ball. Hirschfield also drew a free pass, and Ariza was derided in favor of Tahaguchi, a left-hander. Ferguson dropped a sacrifice in front of the plate and Weinheimer bailed. Gruber also bunted, but Hirschfield was out at first. On a double steal Matsumoto scored, and on Kato's single Ishii went to third. Kubota smashed to left, scoring both.

The visitors came back with three in the next frame. Kaji started with an out. Matsumoto got a base when he was hit. A passed ball gave him second. Kaji started home and was trapped, but finally slid in safely under the catcher.
